Memotot! Lollipop

Memotot = Probot? ... I just like the way Memotot sounds better >>...and it's easier to shorten to MemoLoLi like they do later on...

Western-style clothes

Western meaning American and European, not 'old west' cowboy sort of stuff

Namazu

There is a (very obvious) theme with the character names in MemoLoLi (at least if you know any Japanese at all, you've probably picked it up by the end of this first chapter)

Anyway, for those of you who don't know how to count in Japanese

[phonetic name / Japanese number / European number]

Zero / zero / 0

Ichu / ichi / 1

Nine / ni / 2

San / san / 3

Four / shi / 4

Babachoro OK

BB% sure this is just babble >> the closest it could be if it were translated would be "Baww-aww OK" >> yeah...

Tsuki's Pet Project

Yep yep, this is my own little pet project. (Schedated by me (k, surprise the one who came up with Schedated)...

So why did I decide to edit it? And why this series all of a sudden? What about the other ones I'd mentioned that I was going to do? Well, I lose motivation and become frustrated when my scripts sit and sit and sit. Yes, that's right, I'm sitting on a ton of scripts here. Eien no Waku is finished. I'm about 1/3 done with the first volume of KuniGoku, there are still 2 volumes of BB waiting to be edited. And yet the scripts are just sitting there. I know the editors have lives, too (I guess I have one >>) Besides, TJo was founded on no pressure

(except the annual birthday deadline) do it when you can, when you want to. So why not hand them to other people who are faster? Because people get attached to projects. Bunge loves BB and I don't want to take that away from her. So why don't I edit one of the others? Because they are being worked on. So why just start translating a new series? Because, as I said, motivation. Right now I have no interest, motivation in BB. It's sitting there. If I translate more, it'll just sit there. KuniGoku is going slow because ENW is still being edited. Motivation. So I picked a new project. I had so much fun reading MemoLoLi that I wanted to translate it right then and there (at work ^^U) So I did (at work ^^U) And so I wouldn't get frustrated at editing taking so long, I decided I'd edit it myself. I can edit (at a decent level, I'm not crazy or Sen, those two are amazing). So there, it's my project, it'll be on my time. ~^~ but don't worry BB is being edited. There's no way I'll give up on that XD. And ENW and KuniGoku are coming along! I'll make sure that you get to read all these amazing manga! >> No hush about my redrawing. I'm getting better. - TsukiGoku SCDEB

Nice to meet you! This is Sakata Michiko! 'Mamotto! Lollipop' volume 1 is now on sale, but I never thought my first comic book would come out this quickly! It's an inexpressible feeling! This is all thanks to everyone's support-♡ There's nothing else to it! (seriously) Thank you so very much-!! ♡ (tears of gratitude) I'm still a developing newcomer and I feel that there are many parts that are clumsy, but this is something I definitely wrote with all my effort! I've written a whole book, and I can see the profits of that (laughs) I'll be quite happy if you enjoy reading it! Well then, I wish you well until next time. ♡

POP 2

KI, KI-KI-KI, KISSI?!?!?

Pop 2. "Ki, Ki-ki-ki, KISS!?!?!"

Incidentally, when I was drawing all 17 pages that were to Pop 2 I was under the mistaken delusion

This chapter was reeeeeeeeeeeally troublesome. I'd had enough time to convey the meaning of the name, but it still doesn't come across correctly. In this chapter, you can fully realize the difficulty of this serialization. Ratska and Gavi's characters were also rather haphazard. Rather, anything concerning Mabel is haphazard, which caused trouble in making the story. However, Baby Nina was very popular, so I just let it be. As for the front page, S-shi had been wanting to draw chicks for a long, long time now, and this is how it ended up. And for the time being, I think I'm glad that I didn't forget this page to the left is the copy machine at the convenience store. "pop"

Comment ①-①

Pop 0. "Suddenly, a Life Full of Troubles!?"

This didn't appear in "Akazipshi" itself but in a supplement manga magazine. "The next 3" It was my first appearance and I was incredibly happy when I look at it now I feel that everyone's faces are totally different. Even now there are a lot of people who tell me "I love Zero's 'Boachonon de!'" and this makes me happy. However I don't really think that he can appear again after this. It seems that I've already pretty much lost the timing to use it. Speaking of which I forgot a page of this chapter's no Pop 0 manuscript in the copy machine at the convenience store and I had to ask the clerk if anyone had reported it I found that to be highly embarrassing. By the way it was page 39.

Pop 1. "Pardon Us~!?"

As of this chapter Mizumoto became a serialized story (it was a complete story in next) I was happy and nervous about my first color page. It was a lot of trouble to paint all of those balloons especially since I didn't really use color ink. (Not that it's changed) but as for the story personally it came out ok! is what I think. For chi's girl disguise and Ischi's "reserved seat" line were both very popular, as well as Zero. However I didn't think that the girl disguise would be this popular. (laughs) I leave it up to Shi to take charge of the title every time. I really thought I could do it myself but I didn't have a good plan. (well actually I couldn't convey the idea simply) but because I leave it up to her, I'm always looking forward to the title page each and every time.

POP 3. "Sexy Legend of the Open Air Bath!"

Countless people have commented to me that "It's a rather sexual title picture, isn't it?" All of the main characters that have been presented (for the time being) are gathered in it! I really like the chapter title! It somehow really makes you look forward to it (laughs). As for the content, I feel that I've written a cheap manga-style cheap manga for the first time in a while! I used a lot of boob, and so the manuscript was a lot heavier than usual. I like both pictures that use boob and those that don't use any boob at all. I don't think there are any pictures that actually look like theirs, but I wanted to stress the cuteness of the design.

Q&A

The corner where I answer everyone's questions!

Q1. How do you pronounce "Ichu"?

A1. I think that the inflection at the end of his name drops. It has the same intonation as the surname "Ichu" for example.

Q2. Are there warts in Aina's ribbons?

A2. What do you think? Well I'll leave that to your imagination.

Q3. Which of the Hamao characters do you like?

A3. Hmmmm. It'd be kind of boring to say it right now so I'll answer that in the final chapter. It might change along the way (laughs).

Q4. What flavor of Chupa Chups do you like?

A4. At the beginning of the serialization we bought a box of Chupa Chups simultaneously as commemoration and as research material. I like the red flavor. However there are also a lot more flavors so I'm hesitant. The watermelon flavor is also surprisingly great!

Q5. Aina, Zero and Ichu are all on volume 1 of Peko Peko Peko aren't they?

A5. "Yep, they're there. I drew them." I did that when I was an assistant of 'Akabegawa's' Hidenori Morikawa. Peko is currently being serialized in 'Akabegawa'. It also became an anime. I really appreciate her work!

Q6. The characters' names are numbers aren't they?

A6. Bingo! Thanks to this I no longer get stuck on what to call the characters. It's very convenient (laughs). By the way, Zero → 0, Ichu → 1, Aina → 2, San → 3, For → 4, Gyu → 5, Rokka → 6, Hattai → 20 (as in the date), Youshan (Yuka) → 8 (as in the date). 7 & 8 appear in volume 2. Look forward to it!

POP 4. 'Huge Panic During the Midterm!'

I had thought that this chapter was fairly difficult as well. But I had fun drawing the 'name' (Ah, the 'name' is the manga I draw on normal paper before I turn it into the manuscript.) I had never thought that I really could draw Will-shesha once again! I was so happy; (more about him in the stand-alone story.) As opposed to the last chapter, this one has a much more shounen manga-ish feel to it. There weren't enough pages for it, and it feels that the manga was crammed into the pages. The title page features the women. If the women are there, then of course the guys are, too. Oh yeah, this chapter I stuck in the macho-loving wrestlers...a Urk.

→ PEARL

OK, as I screamed up T_T Sorry!!! it's Crystal Pearl, not Crystal Ball. I didn't look closely enough at the students next to the king and just assumed that it was ball (well, crystal ball, right? it sounds so natural :>u:) But nope, it says go ru, not ba ru (less, Tsuka: pay attention! You KIDZ!! that ball is ba-ru, not (ba-ru x_u) Or, anyway Sorry about that mistake >_>I caught it rather quickly at least. It's Pearl from now on (Pearl

→ Name

I had to double-check this one because it sounded awkward, but the rough draft that is drawn before the manga is made is, indeed, called the same!

→ barrier

If 'barrier' sounds a bit odd (as the first 'barrier' is the quiz), well, it says 'barrier' in Japanese. I find it makes sense, if only in an awkward way.

→ Dokobaki = Haya-Cake Kuzo

I translated Haya-Cake as 'Lightning Round' because they're really the same way. The Japanese just say it in a more literal way... Haya-Cake meaning "quickly pressed" ...as yeah, whenever pressure the batter first gets to spread, just like those lightning round quiz things >>-u's, moving on...

→ riddle

It pretty much summed them all up in the margin, in the manga... >> the 'short color' one was so bad that I thought there had to be a deeper meaning to it... But Hope, Cery and Geki both came up with the same explanation. It's just a stupid joke x_x

→ Now as for Peko's transformation.

OK, in Japanese she says "Chikara mochi ni kousen ni naru~" which means "Become an elephant with lots of power" (breaking it down: chikara = power; mochi = hold, so = "hold onto/chikara mochi in describing the next word") so = elephant; -aru = honorific (as "Mr") so = "noun-following particle that in this case means 'hold'... sure = become (imperative tense!) Well, her sentence can mean something else if the words are spaced a bit differently: "Chi kara mochi ni shi-sen ni naru~", which means "become a mochi elephant coming out from the earth" (breaking it down: shi = earth; kara = from; mochi = mochi (playfully putting rice-gluten food); so = ... (well, the rest is the same so I won't repeat it))

Huge kudos that makes things make more sense!

→ Hina Ken

In 152 in the 4-panel Kuzo mentions Hina Ken. Hina Ken is a singer. Why talk in her manga, well, only the stressed-out Kuzo knows for sure.

→ Will

Did you like Will? (My friend stares at him for several minutes whenever she sees him :>u) There's more of him in Medical Magical, which will be the next MurotoLoli release! Look forward to it!

Medical Magical

This is a story in itself. It appeared in 2002's "Water Break Land." It's my third debut piece. I really like this piece! I had a lot of fun drawing the main 2. Out of all the work that goes into drawing the manga, I like the name the best (though it's by no means OK.) I say that about the design above all else, but the "Magical World" in Mardiel became the setting for this. The percentage of girls in this is high, too! It seems that more middle schoolers like Shiro than grade schoolers. Even so, this really contains a lot of love, doesn't it? I think I put on too much... I did it all by myself. Well, my best friend and older sister helped me out just a little, but this is a profound work which I put my heart into and roughly completed by myself up to the end. It took quite a long time to produce it as well. The little picture was also a bonus (r100) of trouble (it took me 3 days). I really hate backgrounds. I know this sounds like a lie, but it's the truth.

Suppa Chueur-san of Fukushima Prefecture gave me the design for San's western clothing in the above illustration! It's an image of blueberries and it's very cute. Thank you! It'd be great if everyone were to also design western clothes like this (Moriwaka wearing such-and-such doing something-or-other!) I definitely don't mind drawing it! Send them in with your fan letters and the ones I use will be chosen with my judgement and personality. I'm waiting for your requests!

Fan Letters —

I'm truly thankful for all the fan letters I receive! I'm very happy. Please write to me if you feel like it. I'm so happy that the characters are popular among everyone. I guess Zero and Ichu really are popular after all. Among the readers everyone seems to be split between "The Zero Faction" and "The Ichu Faction" but it's fun! I like reading letters like "I love this character!"<sup>1</sup> At the end I really feel their impressions. It feels like the age of people sending fan letters was slightly risen as this book became published. Getting across that I've put my greatest effort onto drawing. Ah, good! Everyone is so cute! But the letters from middle and high school students are interesting. They write about how they feel as they read it and reading that is really fun. I like the articles when they are personally in high spirits (laughs). Anyway, no matter what the fan letter I'm really happy when this comes comes out, please send me your impressions and the like again! I look forward to it!<sup>2</sup>

Yes this is the end. Thank you for reading all the way up to here. What did you think? I'm happy if you read this book and felt even just a little happy. I seem to be the type who constantly doesn't show her feelings outwardly and with my personality I really can't say "thank you" right to anyone's face. However I'm exceedingly happy that I am able to have a job that I like like this and to be able to make a book and so many fans! Which is why I want to collect all my grateful feelings for the assistants (goddesses) who helped me make the manuscript. Thank you my family who cheered me on and all of you who are reading this book and say "Thank you" Thank you everybody!! I'll do my best from now on as well so keep following me!! And so treat me well in volume 2. I'll see you again!!
